BILLING POLICY & PROCEDURES HANDBOOK

[Company Name] — Internal Reference

Document ID: BILL-POLICY-v1 | Owned by: Billing Department Lead | Last reviewed: [date]

Section 1: Invoices & Charges

§1.1 Billing records. Billing records must identify the applicable customer account, billing period, charge, and transaction reference where available.

§1.2 Incorrect charges. Customers or employees who identify a potentially incorrect charge should provide the invoice or transaction reference and explain the discrepancy. Billing reviews the charge against the applicable account record.

§1.3 Duplicate charges. Suspected duplicate charges must be investigated before a refund or adjustment is promised.

> Human Agent Notes — Section 1: Verify the account before discussing transaction-specific information. Do not disclose billing information belonging to another customer.

Section 2: Refunds & Credits

§2.1 Refund requests. Refund requests must identify the transaction and reason for the request. Eligibility is determined using the applicable billing policy.

§2.2 Credits. Account credits must be recorded against the correct customer account and transaction where applicable.

§2.3 Refund processing. Approved refunds are processed through the designated billing process. Processing by Billing does not guarantee immediate appearance in the customer's payment account.

> Human Agent Notes — Section 2: Never promise a refund before confirming eligibility and approval status.

Section 3: Payment Issues

§3.1 Failed payments. Failed payments should be reviewed against the payment status shown in the billing system. Customers should not be asked to repeatedly submit payment information when the system indicates a technical processing problem.

§3.2 Payment confirmation. A payment should be treated as confirmed only when the billing system records the successful transaction.

§3.3 Payment disputes. Disputed transactions must follow the designated billing dispute process and should not be manually altered without authorization.

> Human Agent Notes — Section 3: Do not request or record unnecessary full payment-card information.
